The Escanaba Public Library to Host Angie Jackson, Mixologist

(ESCANABA, MI) – Escanaba Public Library announces an Author Talk with Culinary Mixologist, Angie Jackson, aka “The Travelling Elixir Fixer” on Tuesday, August 27 at 5:30 p.m. in the library to discuss her book, Drink the Wild: Recipes From a Kitchen Witch for the Spirited and Sober Soul. Attendees will sample these zero-proof elixirs and learn the stories behind them. Juniper berries, cardamom pods, apple cider vinegar, bittering agents, and other botanicals are used in creating the recipes. Learn how to make drinks that are delicious, good for you, and good for the wild world we are part of.

Angie Jackson is a Master Culinary Mixologist, Brand Consultant, and Author. In her 25 year career she has designed and executed award winning beverage programs for Chicago’s top bars and restaurants, numerous Midwest distilleries, national distributors, as well as global brands and celebrities. She is a graduate of the Academy of Spirits and Fine Service, BarSmarts Advanced Bar Education Program, and the Advanced Culinary Mixology Academy. Angie taught Mixology in the Culinary Arts, Food Beverage, and the Hospitality Department at Kendall College in Chicago before moving back to Michigan to nurture her home state’s growing culture of farm to table culinary experiences, local agriculture and distillation, wild crafted elixirs, as well as herbalism and foraging.

There is no registration or charge for this program and everyone is welcome. This program is made possible with the generous support of the Friends of the Escanaba Public Library.

The Escanaba Public Library is located at 400 Ludington Street in downtown Escanaba. For more information call 906-789-7323, visit the library’s web site at www.escanabalibrary.org or link to our Facebook, and Instagram pages.
